Driest two years on record

The 1976-77 season was just the second driest period on record for the East Bay, but when coupled with the 1975-76 season, brought these counties the worst two-year drought in recorded history.

Figures released this week by the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District provide stark evidence of the dry spell which has prevailed throughout the East Bay since the spring of 1975.

On average, the 1976-77 rainfall total was eleven inches, 45 percent below normal.

Livermore Valley was among the worst of the East Bay dry spots, gaining an average of eight inches of moisture in the 12 months ending June 30.

Some Livermore readings

Livermore was among the worst went as low as 6.83 inches for the full season. Pleasanton readings for the most part were two inches over the Livermore stations. Sunol, true to its pattern, gained this basin's highest rainfall count, with readings up to 10.77 inches.

Some typical station reports were: Livermore County Fire Station, 7.55 inches (against 5.39 the previous year); Pleasanton Corporation Yard 9.66 inches (8 previous year); Wente Winery 7.59 (5.5 in 1975-76); Camp Parks 8.88 (6.48); Lawrence Livermore Lab 7.72 (5.42).

Readings for the season ranged from seven to eleven inches in the Washington Township west of the hills, from nine to 13 inches in the Castro Valley-Hayward area, and with numerous reports in the 12- to 14 inch range in the hills above Oakland and Berkeley.

The 20-year average rainfall for this basin is about 17.2 inches. Highest seasonal average in the East Bay is a Moraga station with 33.5 inches over 20 years. That same station reported 13.33 inches this past season, 12.31 inches in 1975-76. Driest station in the East Bay is the Lawrence Livermore Lab with just 12.7 average.

Enough 'speed' for the whole Bay Area

LIVERMORE — Firefighters responding to a reported gas leak may have uncovered one of the Bay Area's major amphetamine factories this weekend.

The alleged "speed" emporium at 3754 Oregon Way off East Avenue was capable of producing $20,000 to $100,000 worth of homemade amphetamines per week.

The methane gas leak could have blown the house and part of the neighborhood skyhigh, according to officials.

Police arrested Sherry Prince, 29, who leased the building with someone whom police would not identify.

Other arrests are expected, police chief Ron Lindgren said.

Prince was taken to Santa Rita and booked on suspicion of possession of "speed" for sale and suspicion of possession of the "upper's" major chemical components.

She posted bond Sunday afternoon and was released.

Dep. Dist. Atty. Harry Murphy said he has not yet seen police reports and has not signed a complaint.

Fourteen pages of reports listing 64 pieces of evidence from 2½ ounces of "speed" — or "crank" as it is sometimes called on the streets — to expensive laboratory equipment chronicle the arrest.

Prince called the fire department shortly after noon Saturday to complain of a "propane" gas leak from a tank in a work shed behind the house. She reportedly said she used the gas for tanning leather.

Donning air packs to protect themselves from the deadly fumes, firefighters groped their way on the floor until they found a valve and recapped the four-foot tank.

Police say Prince was transferring methane gas from a mother tank to one of four smaller tanks when the valve fell off. She spent 10 to 15 minutes trying to find it before calling the fire department.

For her efforts she gained severe burns on her legs and hands and a bevy of investigating police.

Police and firefighters blocked the neighborhood and warned neighbors to stay indoors and close their windows and doors.

Prince and five firemen were treated at Valley Memorial Hospital for burns and methane gas inhalation.

Firemen told police it felt like

"mustard gas," the deadly World War I compound, creeping up their skin as it burned their arms and legs.

School talks here hinge on Brown

Contract negotiations in Valley school districts await possible action by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr., today or tomorrow on a crucial finance measure which could add approximately $200,000 each to the Amador and Pleasanton districts and equivalent amounts to Murray, Livermore, and San Ramon coffers.

Brown has the option of signing the bill or "blue penciling" all or portions of the measure by midnight Wednesday. If no action is taken, the bill becomes law.

Most Valley school district administration and teacher negotiators have held off further talks until a definitive action is taken in Sacramento.

San Ramon teachers and negotiators will conduct their second mediation session tonight, though key issues of salary and binding arbitration of grievances have not been addressed yet.

Peter Lujan is the mediator assigned to the district by the California State Conciliation Service of the Dept. of Industrial Relations.

The first mediation session was held last Wednesday night with Keith Breon of the law firm of Breon, Galgani and Godino representing the school board and Mary Ann Carr, Al Gentile, and Mike Shackelford teachers.

Next Murray district negotiations session is tentatively scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 21. Tentative agreements on many items were reached in June, but the two sides must still reach accord on the principal issues — salary, fringe benefits, and organizational security (agency shop).

Heinz Gewing, assistant superintendent for the Murray district, said agreement must still be reached on concerted activities (strike clause), completion of agreement, savings, and term of contract.

Teachers reportedly want a one-year pact and the school board a two-year agreement.

A contract negotiation session has been tentatively called for Tuesday, Sept. 20 in the Amador Valley Joint High School District.

Carl Krause, assistant superintendent for personnel, said the Pleasanton district hopes to reschedule a previous session to sometime later this week or next.

Negotiators from the Livermore Education Association and the LVJUSD trustees are slated to meet Thursday in closed session to continue talks that have gone on intermittently since spring.

Candidate doesn't live here—yet

PLEASANTON — The race for a seat on the city council gained its first candidate this weekend, but he's not yet eligible to run.

Ken Hart, 44, an unsuccessful candidate in the Zone 7 election of last year, has thrown his hat in the ring for the March election. But his current address is on Happy Valley Road, well outside the city limits.

Yesterday he told The Times "I will live in Pleasanton. I'm selling this house and moving to town here. The deal's going through right now."

State law has been clouded with court decisions, but apparently a candidate must be a resident on the day he or she files papers for the election.

Candidates' filings are due in December.

Two council seats will be open in March. Mayor Bob Philcox and council woman Joyce LeClaire will face reelection if they decide to seek second terms.

Mayor Philcox said he is "not sure yet" if he'll run again. LeClaire could not be reached for comment.

Hart, a private building engineer, said he wants "to put the city into business so we can try to drop some taxes."

He backs the controversial "super sewer" pipeline, and wants the city's commercial and industrial base expanded.

A native of Santa Rosa in the north bay, he's lived in or near Pleasanton for the past 25 years and considers himself a Pleasantonite.

The self-styled moderate is against the city's stated 2 per cent annual growth rate, saying the city "must grow with the times, to take care of our children's children."

"Some people say 8 per cent, some people say 2 per cent. I'll stay in the middle and say 6 per cent."

—by Ron Rodriguez

Several thousand dollars worth of laboratory equipment was seized in what Livermore police allege was a major amphetamine — "speed" — factory in the city. The backyard lab allegedly was capable of producing $20,000 to $100,000 worth of "speed" per week and had been operating since February, police claim.

Stand promised

Chamber sees cityhood tome

DUBLIN — The Chamber of Commerce refused to put its stamp of approval on assuming a leadership role concerning the feasibility study of incorporating Dublin until findings are put in report form.

Last night incorporation study chairman Dave Burton asked the Chamber to add its official clout.

Directors requested that Burton first present the facts gathered by his volunteer committees that were formed March 21.

Chamber directors did agree to vote yes or no at their next board meeting on whether or not to lend their official support provided they had a chance to study the committee's data.

Burton is also vice-president of the Chamber. However, he undertook the feasibility study on incorporation as a Dublin resident interested in community betterment, not as a Chamber officer.

Burton indicated the volunteer committees made extensive studies of other incorporating communities, then used the information gathered as guidelines for incorporating Dublin.

Financial findings gleaned by the committees showed Dublin to be way ahead of the game as far as retail surpluses are concerned, according to Burton.

He said Dublin should be able to support itself financially for a least one year until more monies could be generated.

Now that committee findings are in, Burton said the movement for incorporation is bogging down.

"We need some official clout somewhere if we are to get incorporation on the ballot by November of 1978," said Burton.

Homemade explosive hurts youth

PLEASANTON — A homemade noisemaking device exploded in the hands of its 15-year-old inventor Sunday afternoon causing severe hand injuries, police reported.

Officers said Robert Perry Still, 15, of 3613 Touriga Drive was assembling the device at a friend's house about 5:30 p.m. Sunday. Still was screwing it together when friction ignited the gunpowder and the noisemaker exploded, severing some fingers on his right hand.

The youth was given emergency treatment at Valley Memorial Hospital in Livermore and was transferred to Merritt Hospital in Oakland for surgery. He is reported in good condition.

879 sign

San Ramon traffic protest

SAN RAMON — Residents of San Ramon are putting their protests in writing concerning hazardous, child-endangering traffic on Broadmoor Drive and other San Ramon streets by signing petitions circulated by the Save Our Children Association (SOCA).

SOCA Chairman, Fred Rodriguez, said 879 signatures have been collected. Rodriguez and a group of SOCA members were going to present the petitions yesterday to Leroy Vukad. Vukad is Traffic Engineer from the Contra Costa County Department of Public Works.

The idea behind the petitions is two-fold. One is to show county agencies San Ramon residents are behind the SOCA push for better traffic control. The other object of the petitions is to gain support for getting stop signs, crossing guards and crosswalks at the intersections of Broadmoor and South Bellemeade, Northland and Westchester.

Those three intersections are more frequently used by children going to and from school, Rodriguez pointed out.

He added that two traffic incidents involving these intersections had been reported recently. One involved a two-year old boy who required several head stitches after being sideswiped by a speeding car at Westchester and Broadmoor. The other accident involved two girls on bicycles and two boys on motorcycles having a head on collision at Northland and Broadmoor when their view was blocked by a camper. One girl is in Valley Memorial Hospital, Rodriguez said.

Besides circulating petitions, SOCA has scheduled a public forum at California High School, 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 14.

"We cannot stress too strongly the importance of having parents and interested residents participate in this forum," Rodriguez stated. "Representatives of county agencies will be attending Sept. 14 and they want to hear what San Ramon residents have to say about this traffic situation. Parents should consider it their responsibility to help support this cause."

Officials from the California Highway Patrol, Sheriff's Department, Department of Transportation, and California High School will be attending Sept. 14.

Man found dead on tracks; no clues to killers

SUNOL — An 18-year-old man found dead on Western Pacific railroad tracks Friday morning had been murdered and dragged to the spot where a train ran over him, the sheriff's department said yesterday.

The body of Alonzo Detevis was spotted lying between the tracks near a tunnel about 4:30 a.m.

Sheriff's investigators found a trail of blood leading about 30 yards away from the body. Markings on the ground indicated a struggle had taken place before Detevis was murdered.

The coroner's office said Detevis had been struck on the head with a blunt instrument causing death. There are no suspects.

El Rancho Drive resident beaten behind bar

LIVERMORE — An argument over $5 apparently led to the beating of a Livermore man behind the Rambler Inn at 35 North Livermore Saturday morning, police reported.

Clarence Alonzo Hicks, 44, of El Rancho Drive, was found in a pool of blood behind the bar about 1:30 a.m.

Police said Hicks had gotten into a fight while playing pool over a $5 bet he had allegedly lost earlier. He and another man went outside to settle their differences, police said.

Hicks' face was badly cut, possibly by heavy boots or a knife, police said. He was treated at Valley Memorial Hospital and transferred to Kaiser Hospital in Walnut Creek.

The investigation is continuing.

Pedestrian punches Main Street driver

PLEASANTON — A Main Street pedestrian reached through the window of a moving car and allegedly slugged the driver in full view of an on-duty police officer Sunday.

Officer Marcus Johnson was on patrol at 9:10 p.m. Sunday when he reported seeing a man run up to a moving car, reach through the window and allegedly punch the driver. The driver stopped his car and fought with the suspect until Johnson stepped in.

Booked on suspicion of battery was Joshua James Lord, 21, of 192 West Angela St.

Bank bags taken from Tony's Texaco

PLEASANTON — Bank bags containing more than $200 were taken from Tony's Mission Park Texaco service station on Mission Drive early Friday, police reported.

The two bags were located in an unlocked desk drawer, police reported. One bag containing only checks was found on Main Street the next day.

There are no suspects.

Youths arrested for bike thefts

PLEASANTON — Three bicycle-riding youths towing a fourth bike behind them were arrested on suspicion of stealing two bikes, police reported.

Officer Craig Veteran observed the youths just before midnight Saturday. He stopped and asked who owned the third bike, when a man drove up and said it had been stolen from his yard.

The youths reportedly admitted stealing that bike and led officer to a second stolen bicycle.

Two 12-year-old youths and a 15-year-old companion were each booked on suspicion of two counts of theft.

Youth arrested in bike theft

LIVERMORE — A 12-year-old Livermore youth was arrested on suspicion of receiving stolen property after police spotted two juveniles disassembling bicycles in a field at the end of Spruce Street Thursday, police reported.

Officers tried to talk to the youth but he fled inside a nearby house. He was soon arrested and booked and the bike was recovered.

The second suspect was not located.

School lecture series launched tonight

LIVERMORE — The first in a series of eight lectures sponsored by school personnel, community members and the Livermore Adult School is scheduled this evening at 7 at St. Charles Borromeo Church.

All sessions will be held at the church, 1315 Lomitas Ave., and there is no registration fee.

Tonight's lecture by Robert Samples, an author, lecturer and international consultant, is entitled "Cerebral Celebration: A Vision of Wholism in Mind."

The series brochure states, "The mind is awesomely more complete than educational systems tend to acknowledge. There is growing evidence that this incomplete vision tends to create frustration in thought and eventually leads to mental illness. Samples will explore alternatives to a limited view of the capacity of the mind."

The Awareness in Education lecture series states as goals "to clarify expectations for education; to provide a rationale for supporting the view of education as a lifetime process—from pre-school years through community college and beyond; and to excite participants to want to invest time and money in their schools."

Series' organizers invite parents, students, school personnel, board members, and other interested persons to explore and to question aspects of educational reform as presented by the speakers whose views have impact on society today.

Speakers and their subjects in coming weeks include Herb Kohl, Sept. 27, Creating and Sustaining Innovation; William Georgiades, Oct. 11, Curriculum Change: Do or Die; Paul F. Brandwein, Oct. 25, The Permanent Agenda of Man: The Humanities; Dr. William Glasser, Nov. 8, Schools Without Failure; 1977; George Leonard, Nov. 22, Education: Can't Do and Can Do; Panel composed of Assemblyman Floyd Mori, Senator John F. Dunlap and Sid Wolinsky, Dec. 13, School Finance; Wilson Riles, Dec. 15, Education in California: The Reality.

City links

The Guatemalan flag was unfurled Sunday as Livermore proclaimed it to be Sister Cities Day, the city's links to Quezaltenango, Guatemala and Yotsukaido, Japan. The Guatemalan flag is flying on the city flag pole this week in celebration of that country's independence day Thursday. A Guatemalan fiesta is scheduled for Saturday evening at 6 p.m. at the recreation center, 8th and H streets and downtown merchants are holding Guatemalan displays in their show windows. For further information contact Mrs. Lundberg, 447-7155 or Mrs. Ryan, 447-8907.

More drug suspects sought

"We have information this lab has been operating since February, and the potential is $20,000 to $100,000 a week," said narcotics detective Dan Killen. "But we don't know if it was making that much."

"Speed" sells for about $1,000 an ounce on the street.

Killen and Sgt. Phil Johnson said the house had been "under surveillance for some time."

"It isn't a large amount for a lab like that," Chief Lindgren added. But it is believed to have been producing more than enough amphetamines for the Bay Area, and may have been an inter-state operation.

Both the federal Drug Enforcement Administration and state narcotics officers have entered the investigation.

A 12,000cc chemistry lab beaker — about the size of a basketball — was seized. Killen said it "obviously was filled at one time." Residue from the beaker has been sent to state labs for analysis.

The chief and his two detectives would not elaborate on pending "other arrests," but agreed "there's information persons associated with the Hell's Angels' motorcycle gang may be involved."

"It's not uncommon for organized criminals to pick suburban cities to locate," said the chief. "Anytime you have something that could amount to a million dollars in six months, there has to be a large organization."

The alleged laboratory was a "wholesale" operation, according to police, and did not sell directly on the street.

The house is owned by Jerome and Carolyn Wilverding. Mr. Wilverding, a Lawrence Livermore Laboratory employee, said he knows nothing of Prince's background. They dealt only on a landlord-tenant basis, he added.

"My gracious," he said when told of the arrest and alleged narcotics laboratory. "I should have raised the rent."

These streets to be closed

PLEASANTON — A handful of city streets will be closed this week as work crews put a "slurry seal" over the pavement.

Street division superintendent Philip Hallock is asking local residents not to drive on the streets between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m., and not to let water from lawns or driveways run onto the streets.

He also warns that the dark brown sealant turns to a sticky black and can only be removed from children's hands and clothing with kerosene or cleaning solvent.

It takes about eight hours for the sticky, oil and sand seal to dry.

The following streets will be closed:
Wednesday, Sept. 14: Greenfield and Ridgevale ways, and Fairfield, Greenberry, Crestwood, Pebblewood, Meadowwood, Greentree, Oakview, Tangletree and Fairview courts, and Golden Road.

Thursday, Sept. 15: Ramblewood and Loganberry ways, and Fair, Second and San Antonio streets.

Friday, Sept. 16: Kottlinger, Dolores, Sonoma and Junipero drives; Cabernet, Stanton, Randall and Hanover courts; Hamilton Way and Amber Lane.

Foul weather will postpone the repaving, but none is expected.

ARE YOU COCK ROBIN?

The girl played her harp by the side of the road, and sang her fragile song. My gypsy friend and I paused with the other travelers to the Renaissance Pleasure Faire, paused to listen with open hearts.

A group of children clamored about a woman by the gates who was weaving a tale that if they found Cock Robin at the faire they would get a bag of silver.

The folk milled about looking forward to the excitement of the market place, the tournaments, the agile acrobats, the players, and the good cheer of meeting with good people, perhaps over a tankard of ale and a hot beef pie.

A smile merchant caught the gypsy and me unaware, came up and when we turned were confronted by his enormous paper mache nose, in peppery red.

With great charme he addressed us: "Dear Damsels, I saw you staring at my nose. If you think it's big, you should see my father's." He continued to wax poetic about his wondrous nose, all the time trying to sell us smiling masks. You see, a smile can be had for a few pence. And one needn't be sad anymore.

Then a young boy in sherwood green stood before me, looking into my face, with a wondering expression in his eyes.

"Are you Cock Robin?" he asked in a fervent voice, a grave expression in his gray eyes.

The question caught me unaware, and I looked down at my blue dress, I felt of my finely woven straw hat with the pheasant feather stuck jauntily in the turned up brim on one side. I tried to think, "Am I? Am I Cock Robin? I wasn't sure. And I kind of thought I might be. But, I told the young lad, who had taken me back with the question, "I don't think so. As far as I know, I'm not Cock Robin."

My attention was diverted by the Town Crier who was crying out "Fie on You!" to a young man who would not hire him to proclaim his undying love to the lass who accompanied him. And a juggler throwing axes and an apple, and eating the apple whenever it came near his mouth. He was very funny, and the crowd around him laughed heartily.

But through it all the question haunted me, "Am I? Am I Cock Robin?" Cock Robin was someone who got killed in a rhyme. And I couldn't forget the serious expression in the boy's eyes.

The Norse tale of Baldr is possibly the origin of the tale, but regardless of the origin I feel Cock Robin here inside us all. Cock Robin, the vulnerable, Cock Robin, tender and child-like. Will you be ready with an answer when the question is asked you? Are you Cock Robin?

Valley women represented in S.J. at national political convention

Valley women joined 1300 other women representing 34 states to help determine policy and decide on a course of action for the National Women's Political

"If politicians are pro-ERA, they'll receive our help..."

Caucus (NWPC) its third biennial convention held last weekend in San Jose.

"I'm very involved in women's rights and human rights and this is where it's taking place," explained Mary Bancharth Rohn during the convention.

Rohn, a Livermore resident, and other local women were members of the California delegation, an important force in electing Orinda resident, Iris Mitgang, vice-chairwoman of the NWPC for the next two years.

A popular portion of the convention was speeches from many national political women including Gloria Steinem, Mary Louise Smith, past chairwoman of the Republican National Committee and Midge Costanza, special assistant to President Carter.

Steinem's message, a common theme to the three-day event, was that women must prepare for a struggle to get the Equal Rights Amendment passed, and to secure for women "reproductive freedom."

"We are not a democracy," said Steinem, "if we had a democracy we would have won the ERA and going to take tough political strategizing."

Rohn said though she thought "it is tough" to get Valley women to support women's rights and the ERA, "they'll come around, they have to." She is a commissioner on the Alameda County Commission of the Status of Women.

"There is nothing in the ERA that will keep women from being women or men from being men. It will allow us to be human beings and have our rights," she said.

Another member of the Southern Alameda County contingent, Olga de Leonardis, said informing the public is essential to the passage of the ERA. "We have a responsibility to physically provide them with information."

Shortly after Steinem's statement on reproductive freedom, Chilli Barlow, co-chairwoman for both NOW and NWPC from Pleasanton, said, "I guess one of the main points that I am personally concerned about is that the state owns the women's uterus." In talking about controversial abortion legislation which the NWPC is concerned with, Barlow explained strategy on the convention floor as delegates debated resolutions concerning abortion, the ERA, child care and rape legislation.

that now the state will allow women, with certain conditions, to have an abortion. Many persons don't realize that "as long as they (the lawmakers) are in control, they can also force women to have abortions," said Barlow.

Rohn added, "The legislature should not legislate morality — especially for low income women."

Barlow said this is such an important factor to women because, "It's our bodies." She said when women become pregnant, "women traditionally are committed for the next 18 years."

Barlow said that a lot of women belonging to traditional women's organizations in the Valley "are our allies and don't know it."

"They are interested in some things we are not — at this point we are interested in legislation and politics." Last year NWPC supported and endorsed 125 candidates nationwide. About 46 per cent of its choices won.

"A lot of them in junior women's are very responsible. It's not a put down that they haven't joined our group. It's not that they are against us (NWPC), it's just that it wouldn't occur to them to join," explained Barlow.

All three women agreed that "money is where it's at" in working for political change. They said money is necessary to provide "visibility" through flyers and TV time.

Men get money by "the $50,000 checks — women get it in $2 checks," said Rohn.

Even with money and support from NWPC, candidates don't always come through for the women, said Steinem.

She charged that in Florida, where the public was "three to one in favor of the ERA, three men in the Senate got it defeated" through political dealing.

In Nevada, she said 11 legislators which the NWPC supported, with signed statements by them to support the ERA, voted against it "at the last minute because of pressure from the Mormon Church and big business."

"If candidates are pro-ERA," said deLeonardis, "they'll receive our assistance. We've had candidates appeal to us, and not know what the ERA is. If they want to come to us for support, they'll have to support our issues."

The three local women said that they are following the Caucus' strategy to boycott states which have not passed the ERA.

"I will not visit Nevada," said Rohn. They added that it is easy to boycott Florida by simply not buying orange juice.

Dr. Joyce Brothers

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I was angered and alarmed by a judge in California who seemed to suggest that women who hitchhiked and were raped, got just what they deserved. Although I don't approve of hitchhiking, both my teenaged son and daughter do hitchhike. I don't know whether my daughter does this to spite me or because she feels that she should have just as much right as her brother to bum a ride. Unfortunately, we don't live in an ideal world and this judge isn't making it any fairer or easier. What do you think about all this? — R.R.

DEAR R.R.: I think the judge was punishing the victim rather than the criminal, and I heartily disapprove. On the other hand, I believe it's extremely unwise and dangerous for any woman to hitchhike. It's also dangerous for a man for he too runs a chance of being assaulted, beaten or raped. However, because of his size, he's usually somewhat better able to defend himself.

Research has shown that men tries to seek a balance between security and stimulation. The environment in America for many middle- and upper-class youngsters has become secure and predictable. Therefore, they're attracted to the challenge, trials and tribulations of hitchhiking. There is also a wonderful sense of freedom and a kind of return to the pioneer spirit that they get when out on the open road with no responsibilities.

Obviously, everyone who picks up hikers is not a rapist or criminal. Many are parents of teenaged children, many are motivated by identification with the free, young hiker and many are merely homesome and welcome the chance to chat.

If a girl insists on hitchhiking, she should never do it alone. She should go with a friend and not accept rides from lone men, but wait for a couple or a family.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I have four children. The first two are teenage boys and they are quite normal. As little children they had no fears at all that I can recall. My 6- and 8-year-old girls are both full of fears. The 6-year-old is still afraid of the dark and the 8-year-old is afraid of thunder, lightning and even the smallest animals. I've tried everything I can think of to jar them out of these fears, but so far, I've failed. What am I doing wrong? — D.N.

DEAR D.N.: I don't think you should blame yourself for your children's fears. It doesn't help them and it makes you feel guilty for something you may not be responsible for. You can help your daughters by encouraging them to confide in you and share their fears. If they're reluctant, tell them that fear is normal and admit to some of the things you were afraid of as a child, perhaps even thunder, lightning and animals. Fears that are kept secret tend to multiply and become more intense.

Girls do seem to have more fears, and more intense ones, than boys. Fear is contagious. When a parent, a friend, or another child is tense or frightened, that anxiety will be passed on.

About one child in five is afraid of the dark but this fear usually disappears by the time the child is 7 or 8. If your children watch TV, watch it with them. TV is a definite factor in increasing children's fears and anxieties.

SIDE GLANCES

by Gill Fox

You may call it group encounter, but I call it old-fashioned arguing!"

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — My daughter is 12 years old and about two years ago a urine specimen showed excess protein. A year later another specimen showed too much protein. A 24-hour specimen showed the same thing.

She had X rays of her kidneys using dye and everything was normal, kidneys, bladder, urethra. A pediatric urologist said there was no disease present that could be causing it. He did say that some people produced protein in their urine just from being overactive but my daughter is not active athletically. He also said some people could get it from standing.

What are the consequences of having too much protein in the urine if everything else is all right? Can she just continue on with this condition or is there a chance something might develop later? I don't know if we should pursue this or just think that happens to be the way she is.

DEAR READER — Having had a good examination and having been told that your daughter has no disease I would think you could relax about it.

Your daughter probably has orthostatic albuminuria, which is what your pediatric urologist meant. Albumin is one of the blood proteins we all have. It actually leaks into the urine from the kidney and is reabsorbed by the kidney so that we don't lose very much of it in the urine. Anything that increases the amount leaked by the kidney will increase the amount that shows up on a urine test.

In some people standing seems to increase the leak into the urine or the failure of the kidneys to reabsorb albumin in sufficient amounts. Orthostatic refers to standing. Hence, the term orthostatic albuminuria.

Sometimes this can be demonstrated by studying the urine collected during a period when the person was lying down the entire time. That urine will be normal. Another specimen is taken after standing which shows the protein, albumin.

When that is the cause and there is no disease it is not medically important. It is not an indication of kidney disease or future kidney disease. If you want to check this further I would think you should have her empty her bladder completely and lie down. A couple hours later collect another specimen and have that one checked. If it is normal you can be pretty sure that the variation associated with standing is the explanation.

Albumin can occur in the urine because of a variety of kidney diseases. A simple infection of the kidney may cause it or it may be associated with nephritis. Increased amounts of albumin also appear in the urine during heart failure.

Q. "WHY DO WE THROW RICE AT WEDDINGS?"

CAROL GRANRATH CLARK, NJ

RICE WAS A SYMBOL OF FRUITFULNESS AMONG MANY EARLY PEOPLES, AND IT WAS THROWN AFTER WEDDINGS TO SYMBOLIZE THE WISH FOR CHILDREN AND PROSPERITY

DICK ROSS

Rice has played a part in marriage ceremonies for centuries.

For many early people, rice was the symbol for plenty, probably because it happens to be the important local food.

In some cases, rice was worn or carried by the bride as a wish for prosperity and children.

In others, the act of eating rice together was the way people were married. The bride and groom first ate the rice and then rice was sprinkled over them.

Rice may also have been an offering to the evil spirits, to protect the marriage from harm. So when you throw rice at a wedding, you are practicing a very old custom.

It is a way of wishing the newlyweds "may you be blessed with many children and have an abundance of good things in the life you are about to begin together."

In rural England, even into the 20th century, throwing wheat over the bridal couple carried the same wish.

When Ely Culbertson first proposed the use of a four-trump bid to check on aces, Ely was more interested in grand slams than mere little slams. Somehow or other the players in those early days just had no idea of how to bid a grand slam, although they did get to six with fair accuracy. Today's hand is based on yesterday's and shows how Blackwood gets to an easy grand slam.

With his near minimum hand, South feels that some move toward a slam is indicated after his partner's jump of three diamonds and rebid of four clubs, but South does not want to go past game on his own steam. Hence, his bid of four hearts. He does need confidence in his partner when he makes this bid, but South is sure that North won't suddenly show up with hearts after his first two bids.

This four-heart bid makes it easy for North to go into Blackwood and to bid seven spades, when South shows two aces.

The grand slam makes easily but there is a best way to play it. At trick two South comes to his hand with a trump. Then he ruffs a club high, comes to his hand with a second trump, ruffs his last low club and claims.

Lefty right on in Coventry qualifying

ALAMO — Lefthander Marilyn Martyniak overcame a shaky start to fire a 37 on the front nine and hang for a 78 to lead amateur qualifying for the Sarah Coventry Ladies Professional Golf Association Tournament yesterday at Round Hill Country Club.

A four-handicapper, Martyniak birdied the 120-yard seventh hole and followed with another bird on the 312-yard, par four, eighth to edge Lisa Goedecke of Los Altos and San Leandro's Mary Enright for medalist honors.

Martyniak, of Marin, joins her four closest rivals, who also include Carol Conidi of the Olympic Club and Nancy Allen of Mira Vista in the field of next week's $100,000 LPGA event as the five allowable amateurs.

Norma Hunt of Diablo, the only valley entrant, was seven strokes behind a berth in the Coventry with an 89.

The small field of 19 players was, nonetheless, larger than expected, but scores dropped off radically after the 82's recorded by Sue Rust, Lisa Baxter and Lois Hodge, who missed qualifying by a stroke.

Practice rounds for the Coventry begin Monday with the pro-am Wednesday and the main event getting underway Thursday.

Looks for win # 1

Smiles, not putts, pay Baugh

ALAMO — Who makes the front page in nearly every town where the Ladies Professional Golf Association tour stops, but has never won a tournament?

Frequent television viewers have probably already snapped out the answer. It's Laura Baugh, the youthful lady pro who has made four times as much money endorsing products from tooth paste to skin creams than playing golf.

"I've endorsed just about everything except an airline," Baugh, who'll play in The Sarah Coventry at Round Hill Country Club next week, said recently. "And that wouldn't be a bad idea considering all the time I spend flying."

Baugh is a constant and ready target for newspaper cynics in every town along the tour. Although many in the galleries root for Baugh, the fans and press do give her a tough time for making more money on the screen than on the green.

But Baugh could silence the critics in the near future. She has come extremely close to winning, including a second place finish in the recent Patty Berg Classic.

"I am past due for a win," admits the blonde former US Amateur champion who has allowed her looks to compensate for her hooks and slices. "It has been frustrating, but I have to realize that it took many of the pros five or six years on the tour before they scored their first victories."

"I think once I break this barrier, my game will really improve and the next win will come much easier," she continued. "Just look what one win did for Debbie Austin (who has won five tournaments this year after drawing a blank for years)."

Undaunted by the LPGA regulation requiring all players to have reached their 18th birthday, Baugh began her career overseas, under the promotional guidance of the Mark McCormack Organization.

Although most Americans think this country has a lock on golf lunacy, Laura says Japan should get that honor. In that country, Baugh took off like a rocket.

She gave golf exhibitions and interviewed Japanese celebrities, via interpreter, while they were on the course for her own weekly television program. Within months, it was the highest rated talk show in the country.

A company printed a calendar with six pictures of Baugh, one pose for every two months.

"Most of the pictures were taken while I was playing golf, but," she admits, "there was one bikini shot."

The entire printing of 250,000 calendars sold out

Chabot's first volleyball match

AV grads pace Glads

SAN ANSELMO — It was the coaches' first volleyball game ever after a career coaching basketball and softball. There were only seven players on the entire squad and not one of them had ever played in a collegiate volleyball game. And it was the first time the college had ever fielded a woman's volleyball team.

With all that going against them, the Chabot College women's volleyball team defeated a strong College of Marin squad, 6-15, 17-15, 2-15, 15-9, 15-5, yesterday afternoon.

The victory was sparked by four Amador high school graduates — Kim Libert, Debbie Ossen, Carmen Macon, and Cindy Aafelt. Chabot coach Lois Machado had recruited the four players for her softball team, so having them form the nucleus for a new volleyball program at the college has been an added plus.

"I decided to quit coaching basketball to start the team this year, because I figured if I didn't get volleyball going here, no one would," explained Machado. "I wasn't sure if we could get the players, but I asked the Amador group if they played volleyball and when they said they did we took it from there."

Chabot hardly ran off to an outstanding start in its match with Marin. The Gladiators quickly fell behind, 7-0, largely due to solid serving and hitting by Marin sophomores Sherri Julin and Janna Anderson.

In contrast to the opening game, the second game was a see-saw affair. The contest was tied at 13, 14, and 15 before SeYeral wild Marin hits and some fine Chabot defensive work gave the Gladiators a 17-15 edge.

While Chabot's young team showed promise in the second game, coach Machado saw her squad do a complete collapse in the third game. Machado said part of the problem might have been her removal of starter Barb Kasche to give the other players more experience in a variety of set-ups.

"It seemed like everything that could go wrong did in that one game," said Machado. "We weren't covering their hitters, and the defense looked so spread out that sometimes it didn't even look like a defense. 'But then Barb came in,'" she continued, "and everybody started talking and coming alive." The fourth game was close at first, with the score tied at 6, but the Gladiators got four points in a row from Macon and some spectacular diving defensive plays from Ossen to pull away.

By the fifth game, Chabot was shutting off the sometimes-spectacular spikes of Julin and Anderson — quite an accomplishment considering one of Julin's spikes was so powerful that it knocked over a Chabot player earlier in the match.

There was some fine serving on both sides, with several aces scored. In addition to Macon, Ossen, Aafelt, and Kasche also served well for the Gladiators.

"I must say the kids really surprised me," said Machado. "No one on our team Mas really had much experience, although I know Amador has a fine program out in the valley." Machado also praised her squad for working hard in practice. "We really worked hard on conditioning, and I think that might have started to really make a difference along about the time the fourth game started," she said.

Chabot will compete in the Golden Gate Conference this year, with the same schools and eligibility requirements as men's athletics. The Gladiators will play their first home game against non-league foe Ohlone College Thursday night at 5:30.

Only 1092 witness 3-1 Giant loss

SAN FRANCISCO — Seagulls and sportswriters almost outnumbered the spectators as the Atlanta Braves topped the San Francisco Giants 3-1 last night at Candlestick Park.

Only 1092 fans, the Giants' lowest turnout of the season, watched the affair.

Atlanta pitcher Phil Niekro went the distance and picked up his 15th win against 17 losses for the season. He scattered six hits, walked two batters, struck out six but had two wild pitches.

Charlie Williams, now 5-5, received the defeat. The loss dropped the Giants 6½ games behind third-place Houston, which defeated Cincinnati 7-2.

San Francisco scored an unearned run in the eighth inning to keep from getting shut out. Centerfielder Derrrel Thomas walked, reached second on a wild pitch and went to third on a throwing error by Braves catcher Biff Pocoroba. Gary Thomasson's infield hit to shortstop scored Thomas.

Niekro, the ace of the Atlanta staff, got many of the Giant batters on fly outs. The last six batters he retired in the final two innings were all flies to center and right field.

Thomassons and Thomas led the Giants with two hits apiece. Willie Montanez and Gary Matthews each had two for the Braves.

Giant regular shortstop Tim Foli, who has appealed the suspension by the National League on his fracas last week in Atlanta, did not play last night. Johnnie Lemaster started in his place and failed to get a hit.

Pocoroba belted a pitch over the right field wall to give the Braves a 2-0 lead in the top of the second inning. Matthews scored ahead of Pocoroba by reaching first when he was hit by a Charlie Williams pitch.

Thomas clubbed a single to center field to open the third for San Francisco. However, he was tagged out by Braves' second baseman Jerry Royster attempting to steal on a close play. Rob Andrews and Bill Madlock each filed out to left to end the stanza.

Atlanta added a run in the fifth on singles by Royster, Rowland Office, Jeff Burroughs and Willie Montanez. The Braves would have scored even more runs if Royster and Burroughs had not have been tagged out on sloppy baserunning. Royster was tagged out between first and second after Office's single after thinking the ball had been caught.

Burroughs was tagged out between second and third on Montanez' RBI single, which scored Office.

Williams went five innings, allowed seven hits and gave up three runs, all of them earned.

The Giants send Jim Barr (12-14) to the mound tonight against Buzz Capra (3-11) in the series finale at 7:30 p.m.

NOTES: The Giants have signed 19-year old Francisco Rojas of the Dominican Republic, a nephew of former Giants Felipe, Matty and Jesus Alou. Rojas is an outfielder and bats and throws left-handed. The Phoenix Giants of AAA won the Pacific Coast League title by beating Hawaii in a best-of-seven series 4 games to 2. The Giants won the final game 5-1, clubbing 13 hits to six for Hawaii. Phoenix leftfielder Chris Arnold hit .417 for the six games, had three homers and drove in nine runs.

No EBAL teams make poll

Although five East Bay Athletic League teams are honorable mentions, none of them made the final top ten of the new East Bay Prep 4-A football poll released this morning.

The poll will be divided into 4-A schools and 2-A schools this year, taking the top ten instead of 15 in an attempt to better compare teams with their North Coast Section rankings.

Powerhouse Pinole Valley earned five of the six first place votes to grab the number one spot in the 4-A poll, while Mission San Jose, rated fifth, got the other vote. Kennedy of Richmond, El Cerrito and Antioch follow the defending NCS 4-A champion Pinole school.

Amador, Livermore, Granada and San Ramon, all 0-1, managed honorable mentions while California, the only EBAL team to win a game over the weekend with a 28-6 slap of Benicia, got mention for the first time in its school history with its 1-0 record. It was also the first win in varsity competition for the Grizzlies since they began playing last year.

The 2-A poll sees Oakland's Skyline on top, but it only received one first-place vote. San Lorenzo, which plays Cal this Friday night, got three top votes and was rated fourth, while Castlemont received one and is fifth. Hayward and Salesian tied for second place honors.

Castro Valley, which defeated Livermore 20-17 on two late touchdowns, was rated ninth in the 2-A poll. Irvington and American, two-touchdown winners over Amador and Dublin, respectively, were listed ninth and tenth in the 4-A poll.

Clark reacts to 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO — Many San Francisco 49ers fans were chanting "We want Clark" as the final exhibition game ended, but the coach who was fired last spring says, "I want to be careful all year not to be in position to comment on what comes up with the 49ers."

Clark is out of football now except for some volunteer coaching of offensive linemen at Stanford University, near his home in suburban Los Altos.

Although making no comment on the current 49ers' team, which had a 1-5 preseason record under new coach Ken Meyer and plays the Pittsburgh Steelers in a National Football League opener next Monday night, Clark said in an interview that Al Davis, managing general partner of the Oakland Raiders, was involved in discussions with new 49ers' owners about a coaching change.

Clark told Frank Blackman, football writer for the San Francisco Examiner, that he overheard a conversation at a Scottsdale, Ariz., hotel on March 30 in which 49ers officials asked Davis for advice.

According to the story, printed Monday, one exchange went this way:

Edward DeBartolo Jr., team president, asked Davis: "What do we say when the press wants to know about players' response?" Davis: "Tell them it just depends on who the coach is. Period. Say nothing more. Monte can look big and mean but if you back him down he is like a little baby."

Clark, who had general manager's duties as well as serving as head coach under the former ownership, was asked to relinquish the general manager's duties to incoming Joe Thomas. The coach who led the team to an 8-6 record his first season refused and was fired with three years remaining on his contract.

How to Pick Sleepers in Rare Plates

NORTHBROOK, Ill. — The director of a worldwide art exchange in this Chicago suburb has announced a new, easy way to start collecting rare porcelain plates with high resale potential.

According to Roderick MacArthur, director of The Bradford Exchange, one exceptional plate priced at $25 in 1965 now brings $1,750, and another selling at $9.75 in 1969 now sells for $440.

Mr. MacArthur says, "Since many plates do not increase in value, amateurs often make serious mistakes." He offers a free report on what to look for, when to buy, what to pay and much more. It even includes special offers on eagerly-sought collector plates at modest cost.

To get your free report with no obligation, just send your name, address, and zip code to the Bradford Exchange, 14038 Bradford Place, Northbrook, Illinois 60062. A postcard will do. To be sure of receiving your free copy, mail your request before Saturday of next week.

Knights romp, 33-0

The Dublin Knights garnered more than 200 total yards, including 100 through the air in a 33-0 whitewashing of the Richmond Steelers in Pop Warner football play Saturday night at Dublin High School.

John Milum returned a punt 65 yards and later ran one yard for a touchdown to score two of the winning TD's, while Chris Elbert scored on a one-yard run. Rich Davin blocked a punt and Lou Mace recovered in the end zone for another Dublin TD, while Jeff Tucker forced a safety on the last play of the game to complete the scoring.

The Steelers gained only 55 total yards, all of it on the ground.

Tri-Valley hot

Tri-Valley won a pair of one-sided contests over the weekend in Woodland Winter League baseball action.

Last Thursday night, the locals scored ten runs in the first three innings and went on to shut out Vacaville 13-0.

Brian Swailes was the winning pitcher, allowing just five hits.

Kevin Johns and John Bachleda slugged homers for the winners, while Brad Burnham whacked two doubles and Rick Rosenbach tripled.

In an 11-3 win over Fairfield Sunday, Rick Keizer went the distance and surrendered four hits to pick up the win.

Dan Wilkes rapped three singles and drove in three runs, while Wes Karch singled twice to drive in a run and Burnham and Rosenbach each singled in runs. Keizer helped himself out with three singles and an RBI.

A near-miss Dave Pimentel of Santa Clara, a member of Castle-wood Country Club in Pleasanton, fired an 81 to just miss qualifying for the United States Golf Association Senior Championships last week.

While an 81 or better is good enough to qualify, five players with 81's fought for the final two qualifying spots available and Pimentel lost out on a playoff.

Castlewood's Pete Sanchez of Hayward shot an 83.

Lightning quick Rams stuff Tigers

STOCKTON — Colorado State University's mascot is the Ram but Greased Lightning might be a more apt description of that team after it ran over and around University of Pacific, 20-3 in the 1977 football opener for both teams at Pacific Memorial Stadium before 14,268 fans here Saturday night.

The speedy Rams rambled for 239 yards on the ground, 124 of them by halfback Ron Harris. 68 of Harris' yards came on a option pitch-out for a touchdown with 1:50 left in the first quarter. That sudden burst gave Colorado State a 6-3 lead it never gave up.

The wasted Rams little time in hitting the scoreboard again.

After the Tigers failed to move the ball after the kickoff Bill Rochford punted to the Colorado State line. From there the Rams moved 91 yards in nine plays, Norris Jones scoring the TD on a nine-yard run, dragging Pacific tacklers with him.

The big plays in the drive were a 38-yard pass from quarterback Dan Graham to Mark R. Bell and a 27-yard double reverse by Bell. The reverse brought the ball to the Tiger 10 and two plays later Jones pounded into the end zone.

Colorado State concluded the scoring with a 57-yard drive in 10 plays in the fourth period. Reserve running back Mark Davis plowed over from the two to end the drive.

The final Ram score was set up by Ricky Harr's interception of Tiger reserve quarterback Steve Hardin's pass at the Colorado 43.

Pacific started the scoring with a 25-yard field goal by Franl Alegre with 4:33 left in the opening quarter.

Alegre's three-pointer was set up by a poor Ram punt and Pacific took over at the Colorado State 18.

Tailback Darwin Benjamin picked up 12 yards in three plays to move the ball to the Ram six. However, a pass from Bruce Parker to Rochford fell incomplete and veteran fullback Bruce Gibson got just two yards on a line-buck forcing the field goal. Alegre made the first attempt but the Tigers were called for illegal procedure forcing another attempt.

Parker completed three of four passes for 69 yards in the first quarter but failed to complete another pass in the game as the Rams constantly put pressure upon him.

The biggest threat by the Tigers in the second half was in the opening drive when they drove to the Ram three before a Parker pass to wide receiver Joe Conron fell incomplete.

Gibson was the sole bright spot for Pacific, gaining 81 yards in 18 carries and grabbing two passes for 12 yards.

The Rams outgained Pacific 357-181. The Tigers gained 110 of their yards in the first half.

Despite the sided loss UOP coach Chester Caddas was not that gloomy.

"We played better than a lot of people thought we would," he said. "Colorado State is very good on defense. We mixed our offense well to try and keep them off balance. Had the feeling they could rush any time they wanted to."

"We got in big trouble on the big plays in the first half on the pass. We managed to hold them off in the third quarter, despite their good field position."

Parker, who had just finished a frustrating night's work, simply said "We played our best."

The Tigers will be away from home for three weeks, starting with Idaho Saturday. Their next home game is against Hawaii at 8:30 p.m. Oct. 8.

NOTES — Utah State, which defeated Pacific Coast Athletic Association defending champ San Jose

State, 22-10 Saturday night, has been voted into the PCAA for the 1978 season... despite being injured part of last year. Gibson rushed for 1,657 yards the past two seasons.

SERVING & SERVICING THE BAY AREA FOR OVER 38 YEARS

One way to clean air

BERKELEY — A controversial blueprint for cleaning up the Bay Area's air and water will be unveiled by the Association of Bay Area Governments here tomorrow.

The results of 20 months of study by ABAG's Environmental Management Task Force will be discussed when the EMTF board meets at 9:30 a.m. in the Gaslight Room of the Hotel Claremont.

A press conference at 9 a.m. will be the first look for the public.

Some of the tentative recommendations will be unpopular, promises an ABAG news release. And some "may prove totally unacceptable because of their economic or social consequences," says ABAG.

ABAG outlines the following problems which will be addressed by the plan:

— Air quality. The air is getting cleaner, but it's still below federal and state health standards and will be by the year 2000 unless "quite controversial actions are taken."

— Water quality has improved steadily, but "we still don't know for sure why fish are dying in the Bay." ABAG continues, "We do know that storm runoff can dump unacceptable levels of contaminants in the Bay, as can sewer overflows or accidental spills."

— Solid Waste. Finding new landfill disposal sites is one problem, but finding ways to cut down on the amount of garbage produced is another. Garbage can be another resource.

— Water. The drought has shown we can get along with less water than we thought we needed, but continued growth in the region will mean more demand for it. We have to find ways to conserve or reuse what we have or find new water sources.

Pleasanton schools set their night

PLEASANTON — Schools in the Pleasanton Joint School District have scheduled their Back-to-School Nights for later this month and early October.

It's time you and your gas furnace started doing things for each other.

Winter's coming. As it always does. And now is the time to check your gas furnace, so you can keep the home fires burning more efficiently and safely.

For the most part, the things you should do are simple.

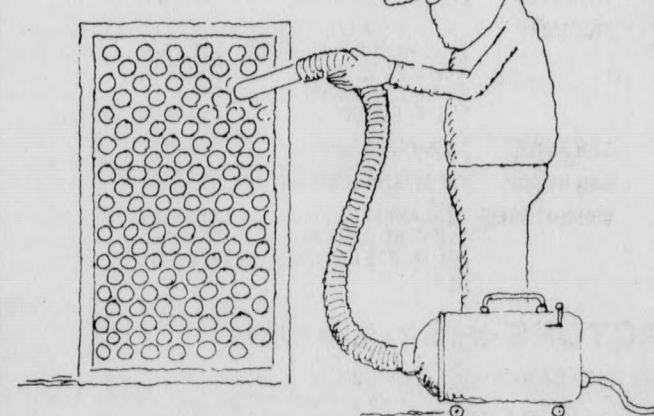

If you have a wall furnace, see that the area around the air openings and controls are free of lint and dust; if you see accumulations of what appear to be soot, you need the help of an expert.

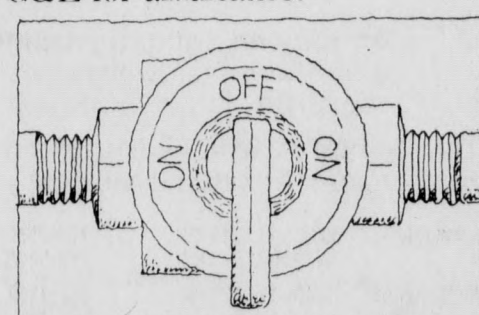

If you have a central furnace, clean or replace the air filter now, and at least once more during the heating season. A clogged filter wastes energy and increases heating costs. (For safety's sake be sure no combustible liquids are stored near your furnace.)

If the pilot is out, turn the thermostat to the lowest possible setting before relighting, make sure the main burner valve and the pilot valve are turned off and allow a few minutes for the gas to clear. Then check the manufacturer's lightup instructions which appear on most furnaces. Once the pilot is ignited, reset the thermostat to 65° or lower. If you're uneasy about it, call PG&E for assistance.

If your furnace needs parts or repairs, call a qualified furnace repair service. If you smell gas, call us. Never look for a gas leak with a lighted match or other flame.

For more information, ask for our booklets, "At Your Service" and "Gas and Electric Safety in Your Home," at your local PG&E office.

With just a little loving care, you and your furnace will be ready for a long, warm winter.

"Soap"—a turn-on that could get turned off

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tonight's the night, gang. ABC finally is airing the new adult comedy that may rot your mind, topple the Republic, and end the world or even bore you. I have reference to "Soap."

ABC, more jittery tonight than the floor of a Manhattan discotheque, starts "Soap" by warning that certain of its "dialogue and situations may not be suitable for all members of the family."

This may be because Susan Harris' saga of two suburban types, the Tates and the Campbells, seeks laughs and ratings from such numbers as homosexuality, impotence, infidelity, promiscuity and the Mafia.

Advertisers definitely are worried about public reaction to this sex-crazed, $160,000-a-copy caper. ABC says tonight's opener isn't fully sponsored, but won't say who dropped out or why.

But it arrives amid much controversy — and fear by church groups that if not stopped in its laugh tracks, "Soap" will pave the way for more sex-oriented shows in prime time, when millions of kids may still be watching instead doing their homework or playing poker.

"Soap" starts at 9:30 p.m. in the East and West, an hour earlier elsewhere. ABC is letting Midwest stations, if they so choose, air it later tonight, after "Family" instead of before.)

Some religious organizations are urging member churches to see the show, then express their views to the ABC stations carrying it in their cities.

This may prove hard in 14 cities — most in the South or Southwest — where ABC, with 195 outlets, says its affiliates either won't air "Soap" at all or won't show the opening chapters.

It said only one defector, WJZ, Baltimore, is in a top 50 market. It nixed the first two shows and reserves judgment on the rest.

Interestingly, those two shows had scenes that ABC, worried about affiliate worries, ordered reshot. WJZ still said no dice.

The only detectable change in tonight's effort is a closing bedroom scene. In it is a young tennis bum who is having separate affairs with middle-aged Mrs. Jessica Tate and her promiscuous daughter, Corrine. Neither woman knows what the other is doing.

Developments face SR homeowners

TIMELY TIPS TO THE PROSPECTIVE MOTHER

The physical alterations that accompany pregnancy are responsible in most instances for the common discomforts that occur during the months that follow.

It is important in the analysis of the condition to know what is influenced the most by the physical changes that take place. The most change takes place in the abdomen where the child is developing and in the lower back, where it must alter its position to accommodate the increased weight by increasing the depth of the curve of the lower back. This increase in the curve forward of the abdomen gives the appearance of a sway-back person which develops rapidly in a short space of nine months. The organs are crowded because of this increased growth occupying the big area of the abdomen. The mother's body will change to keep pace with the weight increase and the pressure exerted on the organs of the abdomen by this natural phenomenon.

Normally the compensation will take place without discomfort to the mother - back aches, leg cramps, abdominal pains, and the other usual accompanying signs of lack of proper accommodation by the mother will not appear. It can be readily seen that if the mother's back is not flexible enough for this great change to come about, there will be back aches as a result and all the aforementioned conditions may appear. Crowding of the intestines may result in persistent constipation and circulatory failure symptoms. These are all brought about by physical changes and the lack of accommodation by the mother and therefore we must direct considerable attention to the physical state of the expectant mother. The chiropractor is the best qualified to treat the symptoms that occur with pregnancy inasmuch as he specializes in the treatment of the spine where lies the source of the difficulties that come with the rapid physical change. The change in the physiology also produces its effects and will be taken into careful consideration as well as prescription of exercise and of proper diet and hygiene.

Boating safety classes

There is still time to enroll in the Boating Safety and Seamanship class being conducted by the Livermore Flotilla 95 of the A.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The class will meet in the Livermore Police station classroom from 7:30-9:30 p.m. on Wednesdays for nine weeks.

Boating is one of the fastest growing recreational activities so there is more need than ever for some knowledge of rules of the road, small boat handling, legal requirements and other safety points which will be covered in the class.

For further information, contact Commander Jack Bidwell at 443-3437.

Big car ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is ready to take on inefficient, fuel-hungry automobiles as it considers legislation that would prohibit automakers from building any more "gas guzzlers."

A ban on cars that get less than 16 miles per gallon beginning in 1980 and increasing to 21 miles per gallon by 1985 is part of an energy conservation bill scheduled for Senate action today.

New laws won't stop immigrants says Young

LOS ANGELES (AP) — New laws and tougher enforcement won't stop illegal immigration from Mexico, America's United Nations Ambassador Andrew Young says.

In a "sermon" Sunday at the 2nd Baptist Church in South Los Angeles, Young said immigrants from Mexico, Puerto Rico and the Orient have, like their European precursors, been people "searching for a new truth, a new possibility, a new kind of freedom of expression."

"And they didn't really find it here," he added, because there exists in this country "a kind of enslavement of the human spirit against which we must constantly struggle."

Young was in Los Angeles to address the conclusion of a three-day Conference on the Emerging World Economic Order and stayed an extra day to visit the congregation of a former civil rights movement associate, Rev. Thomas Kilgore.

The ambassador told the largely black crowd of 2,000 that the immigration problem in Southern California is a parallel to the black experience.

"We can't draw lines at the Mexican border," he said. "When there's hunger down there, when there's an exploding population down there, it's all coming to Los Angeles. The problems will continue to flow over the border. People will continue to come in."

ANNOUNCEMENT OF INTENT TO PERFORM FLOOD ELEVATION STUDY
The Federal Insurance Administration of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development announced today that under authority of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (P.L. 90-448), as amended, and the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P.L. 93-234), it will fund a detailed study of the flood hazard areas in the City of Pleasanton.

The study will be performed for the Federal Insurance Administration by Development and Resources Corporation, 455 Capitol Mall, Suite 675, Sacramento, California 95814. The purpose of this study is to examine and evaluate the flood hazard areas in the community which are developed or which are likely to be developed and to determine flood elevations for those areas. Flood elevations will be used by the community to carry out the flood plain management objectives of the National Flood Insurance Program. They will also be used as the basis for determining the appropriate flood insurance premium rates applicable for new buildings and their contents, as well as determining the rates to be used for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

This announcement is intended to notify all interested persons of the commencement of this study so that they may have an opportunity to bring any relevant facts and technical data concerning local flood hazards to the attention of the Federal Insurance Administration for consideration in the course of this study. Such information should be furnished to the Chief Executive Officer of the community, for forwarding to FIA.

Dow story came out all wrong

LIVERMORE — The heart of California's environmental law could be shot away by the Legislature this session and next, and all because the "wrong" story is being put out on the Dow Chemical plant "rejection" in Martinez.

That's the view of Mayor Helen Tirsell, who sits on the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District and the Association of Bay Area Government's industrial siting committee.

Legislators are trying to cripple the California Environmental Quality Act, especially with one bill which would in effect wipe out CEQA.

CEQA has been a Bible for planning in Livermore and coincides with the philosophy of the SAVE (Save All Valley Environments) ordinance passed by voters in 1972.

The bill in question would allow a government to overrule an adverse Environmental Impact Report if it found the socio-economic advantages of the development outweighed the environmental damage. Since the purpose of CEQA was to put environmental considerations first, the change, if passed, would in effect wipe out CEQA, according to environmental lobbyists in Sacramento.

The apparent assault on CEQA was prompted by an outcry by business and labor interests who tried to blame Dow's withdrawal on "strict" environmental laws, said Tirsell. They also tried to pin the rap on BAAPCD, she said.

Although Dow complained about a year's wait, its application cleared the BAAPCD board in the 45 days allowed by law, she said. By law, it had to be rejected, but Dow went through an appeal to the hearing board and in Tirsell's opinion the firm probably would have won. At that point, though, Dow withdrew and decided to locate in a foreign nation where, said Tirsell, it would be more profitable for them.

"Dow is in the same boat with autos and other big industries; they can make more profit with cheaper labor and raw materials in other countries," said Tirsell.

Tirsell feels the bills pending in Sacramento are very damaging to environmental planning considerations and she speaks from a middle of the road point of view, not "as someone who wants to stop anything and everything and go back to pristine nature."

Parkway zone change request due

PLEASANTON — Darwin Datwyler's application to rezone some 2.6 acres along the future Del Valle Parkway will come before city planning commissioners Wednesday night.

The commission meets at 8 p.m. in city council chambers, 30 W. Angela St.

Datwyler needs the zoning changed from a "multiple family residential" district to "Planned Unit Development." He already has appealed planning director Bob Harris' ruling that an Environmental Impact Report be filed.

Datwyler wants to build 22, two-story townhouses between the Arroyo del Valle and the proposed Del Valle Parkway about 1,600 feet east of Hopyard Road.

Neighbors organized under the banner of the "Pleasanton Safe Streets Association" have sued the city and Morrison Homes to stop development of a near-by 65-unit project. The association is trying to stop the city and the developer from widening their street to the four-lane parkway.

Ask to build Masonic Lodge

PLEASANTON — An application for a permit to build a Masonic Lodge at Hopyard Road and Valley Trails Drive (south) comes before city planning commissioners Wednesday night.

Alisal Lodge no. 321 needs a conditional use permit to build the lodge on the "multiple residential" zoned land.
